

A blue-toned illustration of a night sky. A large, bright white star is positioned on the left, with a long, white, curved comet-like tail or crescent moon shape extending from it across the upper right portion of the frame. The sky is filled with numerous small, white, star-like specks. Below the sky, a dark blue, wavy horizon line separates the sky from a snowy landscape. The landscape features several stylized evergreen trees covered in white snow, set against a background of rolling hills or mountains also covered in snow. The overall color palette is dominated by various shades of blue, from deep navy to light sky blue, with white highlights for the star, moon, and snow.

We have had to learn to keep our distance as we have continued to live with Covid this year. We are discouraged from getting too close to other people- no handshakes, no hugs.

At Christmas, as we remember the birth of Jesus, we celebrate that he was also known as 'Immanuel'- God with us.

This Christmas may we know that God is with us and experience the love, hope, joy and peace that comes through His presence.

There is no need to register, in advance, your intention to attend any of our services or events but we ask that you adhere to current Scottish Government guidance. You will be asked for Test and Protect purposes to give your name and contact details. Please wear a mask (unless exempt) and maintain 1m distance.

All services and events listed are subject to current coronavirus restrictions. If circumstances change then amended information will be available on our website www.logies.org or our Facebook page.
